

Deacon Timothy Carr Sr.

Timothy Carr Sr. is a native of Anniston, Alabama. He is the seventh child of nine born to Willie James Carr and his late wife Willie Alice Carr. He is the devoted husband of Deaconess Angela Carr for 31 years and father of children; Christian, Timothy Jr., Tahlia, eldest son the late Alonzo Rosser, and the proud grandfather of two wonderful grandsons Tristen, Joell, and a granddaughter on the way.

He attended Cooper Elementary School and Anniston High School. In 1979, he decided to migrate to New York City (the Big Apple), seeking better job opportunities. He worked different jobs until settling into a Civil Service job with the New York City Department of Parks and Recreation for more than 30 years serving the Bronx Community. He enjoys his job, dedicated, loyal, diligent and always does his best to help people and encourage them to reach their goals.

Timothy Carr Sr. joined Paradise Baptist Church in 1996 under the Pastoral Leadership of Rev. Dr. Lee A. Arrington, former Moderator of the United Missionary Baptist Association (UMBA). An ordained Deacon, he serves as the Vice-Chairman of the Diaconate Ministry. He is a faithful dedicated and devoted member, Deacon, singer with the male chorus, member of the Hospitality Ministry, a supportive member of the Pastor Aids Ministry and the Decoration Ministry.

He received “The Man of the Year Award” twice at Paradise Baptist Church 2004 and 2018, the Employee of the Month Award from NYC Parks Department, The Ebony Society Award, The Light of the Year Award and presently works as a Park Supervisor with enthusiasm.

Deacon Carr loves the Lord and is always grateful to God for all the things He has done in his life and continues to do.

“To God be The Glory for the things He has Done”
